30 Section 4: Rationale.

31 Meridyth Stefhon, Sara Arias, Hannah Vaz, and Brooklyn Burnett attended the Association of Fraternal Leadership
32 & Values West Conference, in which they learned skills to improve NMSU Greek Life and in becoming better
33 leaders. They appreciate the consideration of their bill and believe it is conferences like these that help these leaders 34 lead their organization better.

35 The Association of Fraternal Leadership & Values (AFLV) exists to accelerate progress in fraternity & sorority 36 communities through change-enabling experiences. We will attend for these core reasons: Challenge conventional 37 wisdom to discover new solutions to critical problems; Be entrepreneurial, maintaining nimble operating practices

38 that enable it to invest in emerging opportunities and address unmet needs in the fraternity/sorority industry; Models
39 best-in-class experience design and execution; Actively commit to providing inclusive and accessible experiences;
40 Work to develop better organizations by developing better individuals; Prioritize time and resources to support the 41 people and initiatives most likely to affect systemic change and sustainable progress in the undergraduate fraternal
42 experience; Make fiscally responsible decisions.
